

Welcome to Wow of the Week
Autumn Term

Isis is very ~~power~~ powerful and a good person. Isis has a white dress with a gold rope around the dress and she has a red circle on her head. Isis has a gold headband on her head and she has long blue and black line hair. Isis is a very nice god. Tauret is a god with a black head and a human body and he has long black eyes. Tauret has a blue thing under his head.

The gold death mask smells Master's old and it has been put on the person's face when they died. The golden sword smells sharp, pointy, hard, smooch and it has a bump on the golden cover to put on it and it is used for fighting and protecting Egyptian people. The colorful circle necklace is to put on your neck and it feels bumpy hard. The colorful patterned smooch chest is to put the most precious things in the world to the King of Egypt in the chest. The canopies with jars are for putting your heart and lungs and brain in side of them. The Egypt people have with patterns on the walls.

Lo: To discuss Predictions based on current knowledge

Using what you have learnt so far, what do you think will happen now that Marcy has conquered her fear and the story has ended?

I predict Marcy will save her dad again but in the ancient times giving us a time travel.
I predict that she will conquer her fears now that she is going to go in the cave and meet her dad's old friend. The old friend is a magical mythical beast that will help her and on his adventures. I think she's going to go to the cave and the waterfall will open up and there will be two more arms and an eye that he let him have so Marcy can conquer her fears with the eyes, but she conquered her fears she is going to give the work to him in case if there's something that traps Anubis the god of the afterlife. Isis goddess of nature and magic and Bast goddess of cats.
I predict she's now going to save her mom and her dad. I think Marcy is going to try and arrange to find more about Egypt, Anubis, Ra, Anubis, Isis.

LO: To write the problem and resolution of a narrative.

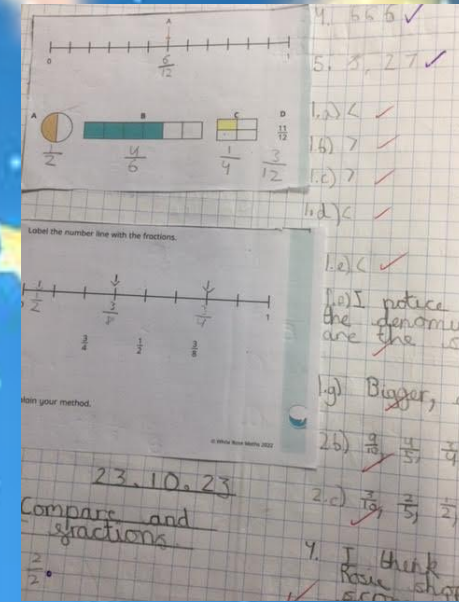

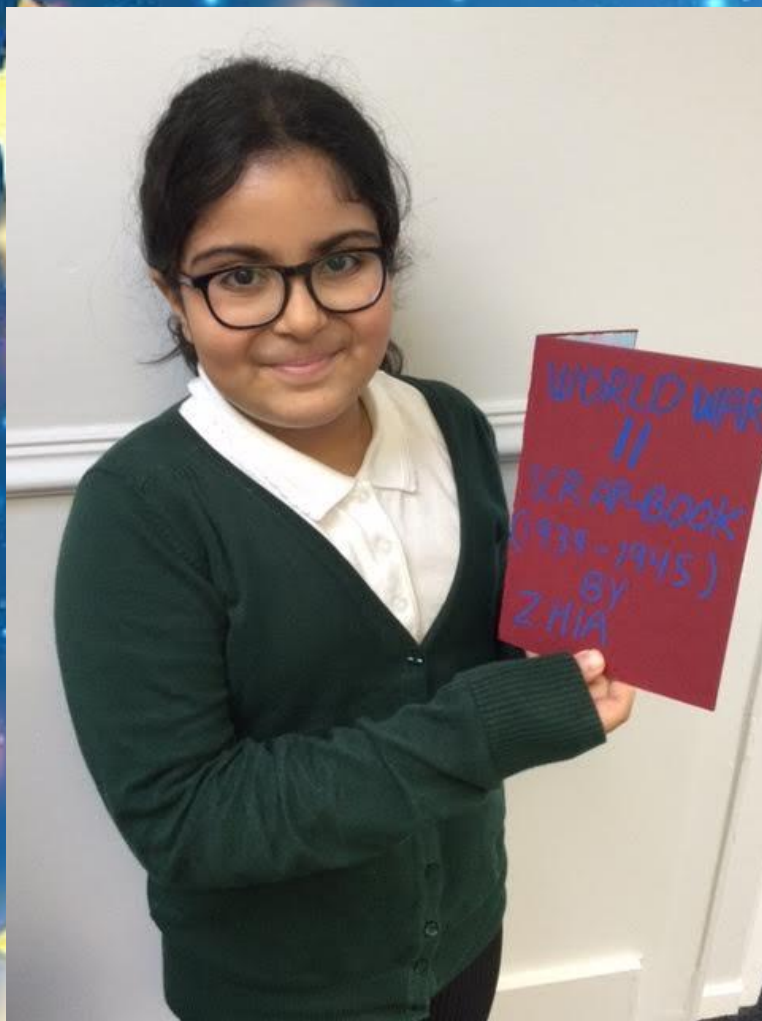

Planned on whiteboard

Not realising that he was drifting away, Carter stared to look for alien life. In a flash, he noticed that ^{there was} not with him. His hands started to tremble and his knees felt weak (he was very scared). Just then an alien spotted him. Its belly was growing and his mouth ^{was} watering; the alien knew that he was just the one. It quickly pulled him forward and licked his lips. "HELP!!" yelled Carter feeling absolutely distressed; he didn't have his crew and worst of all no food or water. Carter shook like a leaf as he got sent to another dimension. A billion thoughts buzzed in his head. What was he going to do? What would Jamie think? Just then, they finally reached their destination: An ancient planet called Lei Ho. Then the alien scurried off saying that he was bringing more aliens, leaving Carter completely abandoned. Carter tried to move but he felt as still as a rock so he didn't bother. He finally got up. He wasn't going to let a weird alien stay here for the rest of his life. With his head up high he walked forward.

After what seemed like eternity, he finally found something that would help him get out of here. A tracker in his astronaut suit. Carter smile went up to the moon as he jumped around in joy.

 L.O: To draft a narrative poem.
 The Grounds Of the Battle-Field.
 Anxious soldiers huddled together,
 Not knowing wheather they live
 forever, Bombs showing from above the sky.
 As the most of the men left
 out a sigh.
 Shivering soldiers running in misery,
 their life on the line just got
 a victory.
 Death gripped them with every injury,
 Hoping their name will be remembered in history.
 soldiers feel calm,
 while their bodies go numb,
 soldiers feel blue,
 while bodies ooz out in goo.
 s planes were soaring through
 the sky,
 the last of soldiers said goo-
 ye.
