 Moments later

In the beginning, the king was a wizard called a ^(SC) Amber and he met another wizard and they had a little girl called Moley. In each evening the wizard Amber read her a story about Moley's adventures and Moley loved the stories. One day Amber decided to take Moley to a place where she had a little girl who was really scared about all the amazing monsters that lived in the forest and Moley had to help her get out. One day Amber thought it was time for Moley to go on an adventure to find an old wizard in a pitch dark cave but suddenly Moley disappeared in the cave and Amber had to go back. After that her dog brought a letter to Moley and she went into Amber's study and she got her father's journal and a hat and then she was a friend at the time of the hat. Her dad said from this mighty feather it would give her some help so she went out of the study and she started the journey to ancient Egypt.

Warning signs

"Mount St Helens is showing signs of waking up," a station said. "I want you to go there because Mount St Helens is a volcano in the Cascade Range of America (USA). I knew it had been dormant for a long time, but it was going to be a huge tourist attraction," I said. "A volcano was going to happen my producer said, but it is not going to happen."

Facts ?

1. On 10 April a cloud of grey steam was seen rising from the mountain.
2. Mount St Helens had grown quieter.

Almost unbelievably, I entered a place of horror. Auschwitz. I wish this would never happen. My joyous life was coming to an end. My happy memories were fading away.

My heart sank, despair and loneliness surrounded me like a dull cloud. I wonder could my family feel it too? It felt like I was suspended here eternally. I was welcomed by a monstrous devil looking building. Memories of my family filled my heart with sorrow.

Anxiously, I took a glance and saw the petrified look on everyone's faces. As I took a step on the rocky, bitter snow I could feel the crushed snow sinking beneath my feet. As I was walking I could see the far-reaching train track covered in rust.

While walking in a single file line I was surrounded by tall barb-wired fences. In the distance, I inspected the towering, misty buildings with smoky ash coming out the chimneys sitting over the lines.

2-0: to write a setting description.

Unhappy, scared and worried, I sat on the squashed seats of the enormous locomotive. There were tons and tons of people that I felt as if I could not breathe. As the locomotive made a screeching noise it stopped. Everyone went dead silent. As I stepped off the steam train it screeched around. What will happen? Why die? In front of my eyes, was a huge symmetrical building. It was dark, dull and depressing. The place was lifeless, gloomy and was hovering over me.

My worn out shoes were touching the hilly roads that were on the floor. As I walked in the colossal building I... I could smell a sickening odour. The sound of blood curdling screams was deafening. The atmosphere was putrid and evil.

This place was a hellish and deserted place with an eerie quality. Nothing I've ever thought I was alive. I could feel the arms of the people that were in the air. They were shaking. What is this place? Will we get out? It was dark in here and it was a place where another did not exist. I could hear gasping screams and the sound of blood as the walls had bullet holes covered in dark dried blood. The floors were freezing cold and was horrible in appearance.
